

My husband is disabled. He is in a wheelchair and needs assistance. I do not need to be harassed by telemarketers. A couple of years ago, our phone rang just about every hour. When I would pick it up no one would be there. I called the phone company. They told me it was a telemarketer. I DO NOT need to be tortured like this again. I do not think that I should have to get caller ID to screen my calls either. It is MY phone, I pay the bill, I choose not to get calls from telemarketers.
